OWNER

On March 23, 1995, Glen Taylor closed the deal that made him majority owner of the Minnesota Timberwolves. He added the title of NBA franchise owner to a list that already includes international businessman, state senator, entrepreneur, philanthropist and executive of the year.

Before he even completed his first full season as owner, Taylor set in motion his plan for making a mark on the Minnesota sports scene. Prior to the completion of the sale of the team from Marv Wolfenson and Harvey Ratner, Taylor had installed Rob Moor and Roger Griffith as the team's new president and chief financial officer, respectively, and promoted Minnesota and NBA basketball legend Kevin McHale to assistant general manager. With the move of McHale to vice president of basketball operations and the addition of general manager (and now head coach) Phil "Flip" Saunders and director of scouting and player development (and now assistant coach) Jerry Sichting, Taylor has assembled a basketball staff with years of experience in the pro ranks.

Taylor is CEO and Chairman of the Board of Taylor Corporation, located in Mankato, Minn., 75 miles southwest of the Twin Cities. The Taylor companies, which are involved in the printing, marketing and electronics industries, include more than 70 operating divisions in 17 states, three Canadian provinces, the United Kingdom, Australia and Mexico. Their employees number more than 10,000, including more than 5,000 Minnesotans.

Taylor built his company from modest beginnings. While a student at Mankato State University in 1959, he took a part-time job at Carlson Wedding Service. Fifteen years later, in 1974, he acquired a majority interest in the company, laying the foundation for what would soon grow into Taylor Corporation. Taylor Corporation is the nation's largest printer of wedding invitations, controlling more than half that market. Many of the companies products are sold through independent vendors such as gift and stationary stores.

Taylor's business savvy was recognized by Corporate Report magazine, which honored him as its 1987 Executive of the Year.

Taylor was elected to the Minnesota Senate in 1980, where he served until 1990. He became assistant Senate minority leader in 1982. From 1984 to 1986, he served as Senate minority leader. While in the Senate, Taylor was instrumental in providing leadership in the areas of higher education, child care and economic development policies.

Through personal involvement, Taylor has remained active in many civic and charitable causes. In Mankato, he has served as YMCA President, Chamber of Commerce Director, Mankato Jaycees President and United Way Campaign Chairman. He has also served on his church's board of deacons and board of trustees and on the Mankato State University Foundation board of directors. On the state level, Taylor has served as the director of the Minnesota Business Partnership, director of the Greater Minnesota Corporation and president of the International Thermographers Association.

Nationally, Taylor has provided expert testimony on business and child care issues to the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives and served as a committee chair on the 1991 Commission on Reform and Efficiency (CORE).

In 1997, Mankato State University awarded Taylor its first honorary doctorate. Taylor received the degree of Honorary Doctor of Laws for his distinguished professional career and volunteer service.

Taylor was born April 20, 1941, and raised on a farm 60 miles west of his current home in Mankato. He graduated from Comfrey (Minn.) High School in 1959. In just three years, he earned his bachelor's degree from Mankato State University. He later continued his education at the Harvard Graduate School of Business.

Taylor is the father of five children: Terri, Jean, Taylor Moor, Jeff and Kendahl.

MINNESOTA TIMBERWOLVES

PRESIDENT

One of the business philosophies president Rob Moor applies to the Timberwolves is the concept of continuous improvement. "This is a goal that comes naturally to our players and coaches as they work to improve their performance and record every day," says Moor. "But there is no reason we can't apply that same philosophy to our customer service, game presentation and quality of our broadcasts."

Since being named the president of the Timberwolves in 1994, Moor has enjoyed watching the team improve its performance not only on the court but also in increased popularity in the region and presence in the community. "I'm pleased with the progress the franchise has made," says Moor, " but last seasons' improvements are just the starting point for this seasons' goals."

In his role as Wolves president, Moor is responsible for the day-to-day operation of the franchise. In addition, during his first season with the organization, he played an active role in finalizing the sale of the franchise to Glen Taylor and in Target Center lease negotiations with the city of Minneapolis and Ogden Corporation.

Moor came to the NBA after seven seasons with the National Hockey League's Los Angeles Kings, concluding his stay in the position of executive vice president. During his time with the Kings, Moor was instrumental in the development, formation and acquisition of several companies, including the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League, Upper Deck Authenticated and MultiVision Marketing and Public Relations.

Moor, 43, began his professional career in the entertainment industry at MGM Studios, starting in the production area and moving to distribution.

While at MGM, he was involved in its merger with United Artists and subsequent sale to Ted Turner. Shortly thereafter, Moor joined Twentieth Century Fox Studios, where he specialized in the areas of royalties, licensing and profit participation.

Moor is on the Board of Directors of the Minneapolis Downtown Council and recently joined the board of Deva House hospice for children in St. Paul. A native of Geneva, Switzerland, he moved to the United States in 1966 and lived in Santa Barbara, California. He is a graduate of the University of California at Irvine. Moor and his wife, Taylor, were wed in Scotland and currently reside in Wayzata, Minn.

V.P. OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

During Kevin McHale's standout career as a player in the NBA he was known for his deft moves around the basket. As the Timberwolves' vice president of basketball operations, he is making deft moves of another kind to build the Timberwolves into a playoff contender.

One of McHale's first moves came shortly after he was named to his current post on May 11, 1995 – he selected high-school phenom Kevin Garnett with the fifth-overall pick in the 1995 NBA Draft. Considered a bold move at the time, McHale and his staff were rewarded with an outstanding rookie campaign from Garnett. McHale also wasted little time in retooling the rest of the team's roster. He added seven new players to the opening-day lineup, including free-agent signees Sam Mitchell and Terry Porter.

In the 1996 NBA Draft, McHale swung a deal to acquire point guard Stephon Marbury, selected one pick ahead of the Timberwolves. Marbury has solidified the club's point guard position and was very instrumental in the team's 14-win increase over the 1995-96 season.

Timberwolves fans place their faith in the fact that it doesn't take McHale long to excel at his job. In high school, he led Hibbing to the Minnesota Class AA State Basketball Tournament title game; in college, he earned first-team All-Big Ten honors in 1980, playing for the University of Minnesota basketball team; and in the pro ranks, he joined the Boston Celtics for three NBA championships, the first coming in his rookie season with the team.

McHale continued that tradition of quick successes with the Timberwolves, moving from special assistant coach in 1993-94 to assistant general manager in 1994-95 to his latest endeavor as vice president of basketball operations. In that role, McHale is responsible for the franchise's entire basketball operations department – overseeing player personnel decisions, scouting and the coaching staff.

In McHale's first season with the Wolves, 1993-94, he served as a special assistant to the coaching staff. That position utilized the experience of his lengthy basketball career, which culminated in the retiring of his pro, college and high-school game jerseys. In August 1994, he was promoted to a newly-created position of assistant general manager.

With the demands of his vice-president position, McHale relinquished his broadcasting duties with the Wolves. For two seasons, 1993-95, fans enjoyed the insight and wit he brought to his broadcast analysis on the Timberwolves Television Network. His unique style and perspective, combined with the talents of Kevin Harlan, Chad Hartman and Tom Hanneman, made for one of the top local broadcasts in the NBA.

Prior to coming to the Timberwolves organization, the future hall of famer played 13 seasons for the Celtics before retiring in the spring of 1993. During the 1997 All-Star Game in Cleveland, McHale was honored as one of the NBA's Top 50 Players for the league's first half-century. A first-round selection (third overall) by Boston in the 1980 NBA Draft, McHale helped lead the Celtics to three NBA championships (1981, 1984 and 1986), five Eastern Conference titles and eight Atlantic Division crowns. He was voted the NBA's top sixth man twice (1984, 1985) and was selected to the All-NBA First Team in 1987. He was also named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team three times (1986, 1987 and 1988). The 6 ft.-10 in. forward/center averaged 17.9 points and 7.3 rebounds in 971 regular-season career games. He shot an impressive 55.4 percent from the floor and 79.8 percent at the free throw line. In 169 postseason contests, McHale upped his averages to 18.8 points and 7.4 rebounds.

A native of Hibbing, Minn., McHale was born Dec. 19, 1957. He first made a name for himself playing basketball for Hibbing High School. He went on to star at the University of Minnesota for four years (1976-80) where he posted a career average of 15.2 points and 8.5 rebounds per game. On Feb. 18, 1995, he was honored as the top player in U of M men's basketball history, as the school celebrated its 100th anniversary in the sport.

Kevin and his wife, Lynn, along with their five children, Kristyn, Michael, Joseph, Alexandra and Thomas, reside in North Oaks, Minn.

GENERAL MANAGER/HEAD COACH

For Timberwolves general manager and head coach Phil "Flip" Saunders, each season is a new milestone. Last season, Saunders (who is 105-121 lifetime) coached the Wolves to their first-ever winning season (45-37) – which included all-time highs in road wins (19), home wins (26) and best winning percentage (.549). He also led the team to its first-ever postseason victory – as the Timberwolves beat the Seattle SuperSonics twice before falling in the final game of the best-of-five playoff series.

In his first full season as the team's head coach, 1996-97, Saunders became the all-time winningest-coach in franchise history, leading the team to a then all-time best record (40-42) and its first-ever playoff appearance.

After seven seasons as a coach in the Continental Basketball Association (CBA), Saunders was named general manager of the Timberwolves on May 11, 1995. But his stay in a front-office-only capacity was to be short-lived. On Dec. 18, 1995, he added the title of head coach to his resume', replacing Bill Blair. Saunders guided the Timberwolves to a 20-42 (.323) mark in his 62 games at the helm during the 1995-96 season, and was instrumental in the significant development of rookie Kevin Garnett and a change in the team's attitude on the floor and in the lockerroom.

Saunders' record of basketball coaching success has a history of its own. He ranks third all-time in the CBA with 253 victories. He began his CBA career in 1988-89 with the Rapid City (S.D.) Thrillers, then moved on to the La Crosse (Wis.) Catbirds for five seasons (1989-94) before coaching the 1994-95 campaign with the Sioux Falls (S.D.) Skyforce. He also served as general manager (1991-93) and team president (1991-94) of the Catbirds.

The Timberwolves hope Saunders' ability to turn around the fortunes of a franchise has followed him to Minnesota. In each of his three stops in the CBA he took a club with a losing record prior to his arrival and produced a winning record the next season.

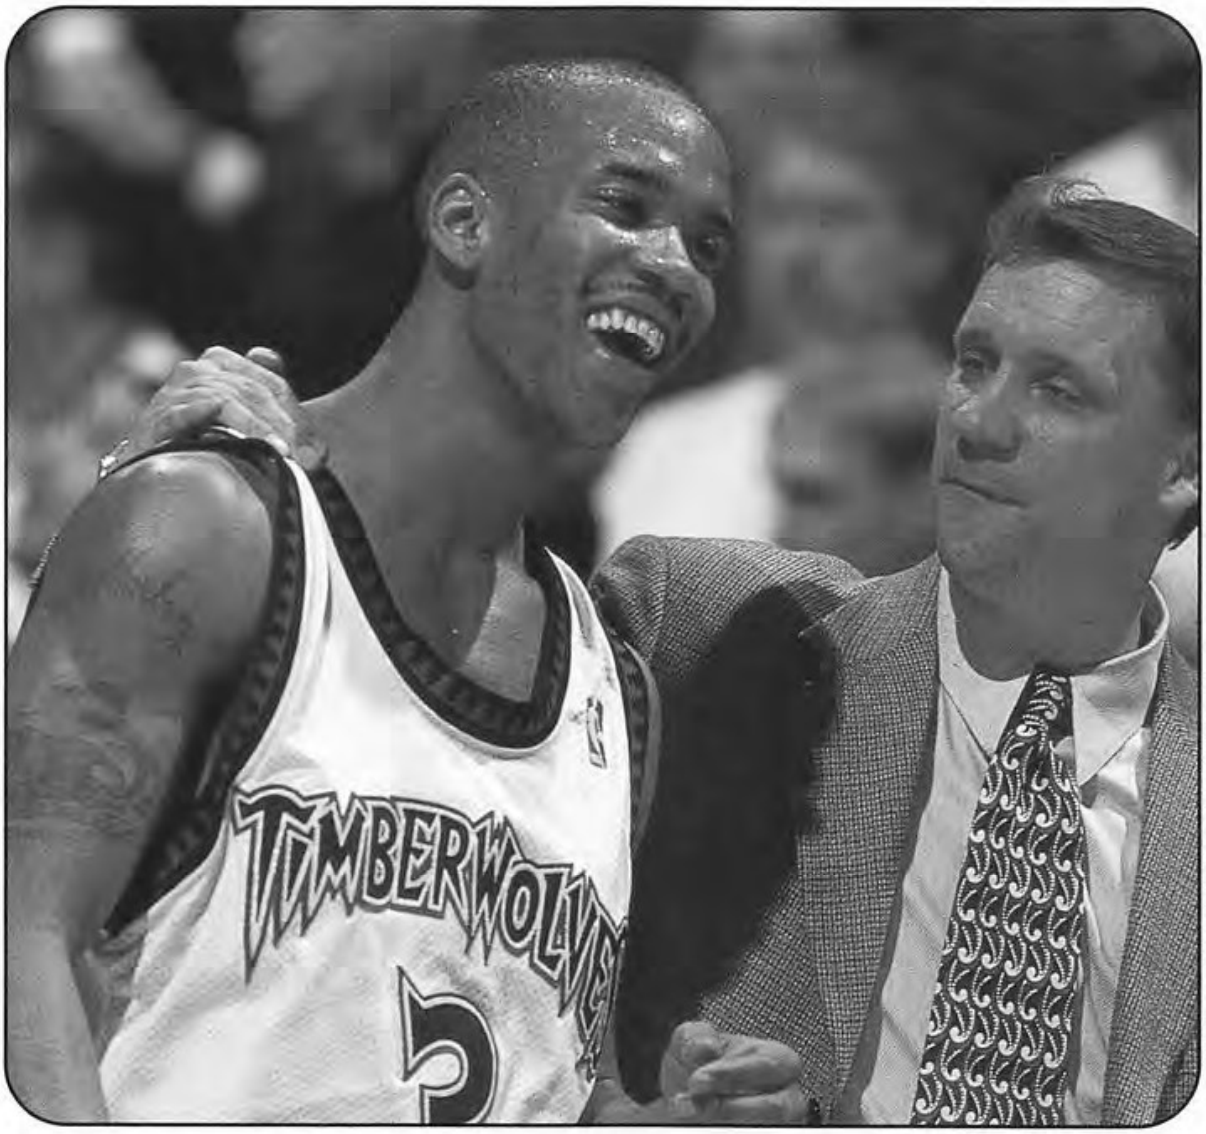
Saunders' impressive coaching resume includes seven consecutive seasons of 30-or-more victories, two CBA championships (1990, 1992), two CBA Coach of the Year honors (1989, 1992) and 23 CBA-to-NBA player promotions.

Saunders began his successful coaching career at Golden Valley Lutheran College where he compiled a 92-13 record, including a perfect 56-0 mark at home, in four seasons. In 1981, he joined the coaching staff at his alma mater – the University of Minnesota – as an assistant and helped coach the Golden Gophers to the 1982 Big Ten championship. After five seasons at Minnesota, he moved to an assistant coach position at the University of Tulsa where he worked for two seasons before heading to the pro ranks.

FLIP SAUNDERS

Saunders was an All-America basketball player at Cuyahoga Heights High School in Cleveland. In his senior season, 1973, he was named Ohio's Class A High School Basketball Player of the Year after averaging a state-high 32.0 points a game. He continued his basketball career at Minnesota where he started 101 of his 103 career contests. As a senior, he teamed with Kevin McHale, the Timberwolves' vice president of basketball operations, to lead the Gophers to a then all-time school-best 24-3 record.

Saunders was born Feb. 23, 1955 in Cleveland, Ohio. Flip and his wife, Debbie, have four children: Ryan, Mindy and twins, Rachel and Kimberly.



ROB BABCOCK — DIRECTOR OF PLAYER PERSONNEL

Rob Babcock enters his fifth season as the Timberwolves' director of player personnel. He was promoted to that position prior to the start of the 1994-95 season after spending the previous two years as a full-time scout with the organization.

Babcock spent five seasons as the Denver Nuggets' director of scouting before joining the Timberwolves for the 1992-93 season. He has also held part-time scouting positions with the Detroit Pistons, Cleveland Cavaliers, San Diego Clippers and Indiana Pacers.

Prior to working for the Nuggets, Babcock was the head basketball coach at Phoenix (Ariz.) College, where his teams advanced to the ACCAC playoffs twice and were the regional runners-up in 1986.

A native of Phoenix, Babcock earned high-school All-America basketball honors in his senior season. He attended Grand Canyon College in Phoenix and helped his team to a second-place finish in the 1974 NAIA final national rankings.

Following his graduation from Grand Canyon, Babcock began his coaching career in Mexico City at The American School Foundation. From Mexico City, he returned to Phoenix where he coached at Greenway and Maryvale high schools. In 1982, he earned Southwest Valley Coach of the Year honors.

Rob's brother, Pete, is vice president/general manager of the Atlanta Hawks, and his brother, Dave, is director of scouting for the Milwaukee Bucks. Rob and his wife, Laura, have two sons: Nathan and Christopher.

JERRY SICHTING — DIRECTOR OF SCOUTING AND PLAYER DEVELOPMENT/ASST. COACH

On May 11, 1995, Jerry Sichting was named director of scouting and player development for the Minnesota Timberwolves. On Dec. 18, 1995, he added assistant coach to his title. Known throughout his NBA playing career as a hard-nosed, tenacious competitor, Sichting brings those same qualities of dedication with him to his first NBA front-office and coaching position.

Sichting spent four seasons (1991-95) serving as the analyst on Boston Celtics radio broadcasts. His broadcast resume also includes fill-in roles on radio and television with the Indiana Pacers during the 1990-91 season, commentating on various high school broadcasts throughout Indiana and a pregame show for his alma mater – Purdue University – on WTTV-TV.

In addition to the valuable insight he gained during his four seasons of watching and commentating on NBA games, Sichting also acquired an in-depth knowledge of the game from his 10 seasons as a player in the NBA. He began his career in 1980 and spent the following five seasons with the Pacers, averaging a career-high 11.5 points per game during the 1983-84 season.

In 1985, Sichting signed with the Celtics as a free agent and became an integral reserve. In 1986, he teamed with Timberwolves vice president of basketball operations Kevin McHale to lead the Celtics to the World Championship. Midway through the 1987-88 campaign he was traded to the Portland Trail Blazers. He finished his playing career in 1989-90 as a member of the Charlotte Hornets and Milwaukee Bucks.

Sichting appeared in 598 career regular-season games where he recorded an average of 6.9 points and 3.3 assists per game. He saw action in 47 playoff contests posting averages of 3.0 points and 1.7 assists per outing.

Sichting is a native of Martinsville, Ind. Jerry and his wife, Joni, have four children: Jared, Jason, Jordan and Jenna.

GREG BALLARD — ASSISTANT COACH

Greg Ballard enters his fifth season in Minnesota, joining the Timberwolves' coaching staff Sept. 28, 1994. The fourth overall pick in the 1977 NBA Draft out of the University of Oregon, Ballard played eight seasons with the Washington Bullets, including his rookie year on their 1978 NBA championship squad. He was traded to Golden State in June 1985, and played two seasons with the Warriors before heading to Italy where he played for a year-and-a-half. He also had a brief stint in the CBA and with the Seattle SuperSonics. He returned to Italy to serve as an assistant coach on the 1989-90 Il Messagero Roma team, which featured current NBA players Danny Ferry and Brian Shaw.

Ballard owns a career average of 12.4 points per game in 802 NBA regular-season contests. He posted a career-high average of 18.8 points an outing in the 1981-82 season.

In addition to being a member of the University of Oregon Hall of Fame, Ballard was inducted into the state of Oregon Hall of Fame in August 1996.

A native of Los Angeles, Ballard was a highly regarded baseball prospect as a pitcher and was selected by the Montreal Expos in the 15th round of the 1973 free-agent baseball draft. Greg and his wife, Donna, have three children, Lawrence, Gabrielle and Gregory, Jr.

Wittman came to Minnesota from the Dallas Mavericks, where he spent the 1993-94 season as an assistant coach under Quinn Buckner. Prior to joining the Mavs, he served one season (1992-93) on Bob Hill's staff with the Indiana Pacers.

A 1983 graduate of Indiana University, Wittman played nine seasons in the NBA. He was a first-round draft choice of the Washington Bullets, but was dealt by them to the Atlanta Hawks prior to the start of the 1983-84 season. During his nine-year NBA playing career, Wittman saw action with the Hawks, Sacramento Kings and Indiana Pacers. He averaged 7.4 points per game, shooting 50.1 percent from the floor in 543 career games.

NOVEMBER (7-8)

The Timberwolves began the new campaign on fire, winning four of their first five games for the best start in team history. After two disappointing home losses, the Wolves chalked up back-to-back road wins in San Antonio and Phoenix to push their road mark to 4-1 and overall record to 6-3. A five-game losing streak ensued from Nov. 19-28, dropping the Wolves to 6-8. They finished the month with a homecourt win over Vancouver. Tom Gugliotta led the club in scoring in eight of the 15 games, averaging 21.1 ppg and 8.8 rpg. Stephon Marbury added 19.0 ppg and 8.4 apg, leading the club in that category on 11 occasions. Kevin Garnett chipped in 18.2 ppg and 8.5 rpg.

DECEMBER (8-6, 15-14)

The Wolves finished December with an 8-6 mark, marking the fourth winning month in team history. They stumbled at the start of the month, losing three of their first four games. The club then pulled an about-face, winning seven of the month's final nine games. They closed December with a four-game winning streak, including wins at Seattle (Dec. 23) and vs. Chicago (Dec. 20). Stephon Marbury set a club record by making eight 3-pointers against the Sonics. The win snapped a league-record 26-game losing skid to Seattle. The victory over Chicago, 99-95 at Target Center, was the club's first-ever over the Bulls. Tom Gugliotta averaged a team-high 19.2 ppg for the month. Stephon Marbury topped the Wolves in scoring on six occasions, averaging 18.6 ppg and 8.9 apg.

JANUARY (10-4, 25-18)

The Timberwolves set a franchise record for most wins in a month with 10, and posted a 6-1 mark at Target Center. Kevin Garnett registered the fourth triple-double in club history in a Jan. 3 victory vs. Denver, tallying 18 points, 13 rebounds and 10 assists. The highlight of the month was a team-record seven-game winning streak from Jan. 9-21, including wins vs. Portland, at New Jersey and at Houston. The streak ended with an overtime loss in Toronto on Jan. 24. The Wolves followed that loss with two more triumphs to push their mark to 14-4 since Dec. 23. The victory at Vancouver (Jan. 29) put the Wolves a franchise-record eight games over .500 (25-17). Stephon Marbury averaged 20.1 ppg and 7.8 apg, while Garnett chipped in 16.7 ppg and 9.2 rpg.

FEBRUARY (5-8, 30-26)

The Wolves struggled during February to overcome the loss of All-Star forward Tom Gugliotta, who missed the entire month with a sore right ankle. Minnesota managed just one victory away from home in February, on the 13th in Denver. Kevin Garnett became the first All-Star starter in team history, and recorded 12 points and four rebounds in 21 minutes for the Western Conference. On Feb. 18, the Wolves dealt original Timberwolf Doug West to the Vancouver Grizzlies for Anthony Peeler. Garnett averaged 19.2 ppg and 10.1 rpg, pacing the club on the glass in 10 outings. Stephon Marbury added 18.5 ppg and 7.5 rpg. Veterans Sam Mitchell (12.9 ppg, 5.7 rpg) and Terry Porter (14.9 ppg, 3.9 apg) helped pick up the slack caused by Gugliotta's injury.

MARCH (8-8, 38-34)

Minnesota opened the month (Mar. 1) with a 115-113 double-OT victory vs. Detroit, marking a franchise-record eighth overtime game of the season. The club then hit a skid from Mar. 3-18, losing seven of nine games. On Mar. 4, Tom Gugliotta underwent season-ending surgery to remove bone spurs and chips from his right ankle. The team embarked on a club-record seven-game road trip on Mar. 23 in Dallas. They won three of the trip's first four games. On Mar. 27 in Los Angeles, the Wolves clinched a playoff berth for the second consecutive season with a 100-98 victory over the Clippers. Kevin Garnett again paced the Wolves in scoring and rebounding at 19.6 ppg and 9.4 rpg. Sam Mitchell added 14.8 ppg and 6.4 rpg, while Stephon Marbury chipped in 14.7 ppg and 9.1 apg.

APRIL (7-3, 45-37)

The Wolves set a franchise record with 45 wins, aided by seven wins in their last eight games. They dropped the first two games of April (at Indiana and Chicago) before putting together a five-game winning streak, the second-longest in club history. The Apr. 10 win vs. Philadelphia was their franchise-record 41st of the year. By defeating Utah the following night, the Wolves assured themselves of their first-ever winning season. Down to only eight players (due to injury) at Milwaukee on Apr. 18, the Wolves pulled out 111-109 win in the season finale. Reserves DeJuan Wheat (19 pts., 8 asts.) and Reggie Jordan (18 pts, 5 rebs) keyed the win. Kevin Garnett averaged 20.8 ppg and 11.1 rpg in April. Sam Mitchell added 18.7 ppg and 6.2 rpg, while Stephon Marbury chipped in 14.9 ppg and 10.1 apg.

GAME 1 – APRIL 24 AT KEYARENA — Attendance – 17,072 — Time – 2:08

	1	2	3	4	Final	Hi Scorer	Hi Reb	Hi Assist
Minnesota	21	11	26	25	83	Garnett 18	Garnett 18	Marbury 5
Seattle	34	19	29	26	108	Baker 25	Baker 12	Payton 7

Vin Baker tallied 25 points and 12 rebounds as Seattle downed the Timberwolves, 108-83. Baker scored 14 points in the first quarter, when the SuperSonics sprinted to a 34-21 lead. Gary Payton finished with 19 points and seven assists for Seattle, which held Minnesota to three second-quarter baskets and raced to a 20-point halftime lead. Minnesota shot 3-of-24 from the field in the second quarter and scored 11 points, two more than the NBA playoff-record low set by the San Antonio Spurs in 1994 against the Utah Jazz. Overall, the Wolves were 22 percent (10-of-45) from the floor in the first half. Kevin Garnett scored 18 points and grabbed 18 rebounds for Minnesota.

GAME 1 NOTES: The final 25-point margin equaled the Wolves' 3rd-biggest loss of the season (#1: 114-80 at Seattle, Mar. 14)... It also surpassed Minnesota's 17-point setback at Houston in Game 1 last year (Apr. 24) as their largest playoff loss... The Wolves also set a season low for points in a half (32), and tied their low for points in a quarter (11) in Game 1... Minnesota's 3-for-24 (12.5%) effort in the 2nd period marked the second-lowest quarter percentage in franchise history... Overall, the Wolves shot 33.7%, their 2nd-lowest percentage this year (32.9% at Sacramento, Dec. 22).

GAME 2 – APRIL 26 AT KEYARENA — Attendance – 17,072 — Time – 2:19

	1	2	3	4	Final	Hi Scorer	Hi Reb	Hi Assist

Seattle	20	25	26	22	93	Payton 32	Schrempf 10	McMillan 6

Stephon Marbury scored 25 points and Kevin Garnett had 13 of his 15 in the second half as the Timberwolves posted their first-ever playoff win by beating Seattle 98-93. Terry Porter, inserted into the starting lineup, added 21 points and Sam Mitchell scored a playoff career-high 18 for the Wolves. Tom Hammonds scored 11 points, and Anthony Peeler had eight points and 14 boards as Minnesota outrebounded the Sonics, 49-37. Gary Payton scored 32 points for Seattle, with Detlef Schrempf adding 15 points and 10 boards. The Sonics, which trailed by six points entering the fourth quarter, tied the game for the final time at 86-86 with 4:14 to play after Payton scored four straight. But Garnett's layup a minute later gave Minnesota the lead for good, and the Wolves went 6-for-6 from the line in the final 15 seconds.

GAME 2 NOTES: After shooting just 33.7% in Game 1 (including 22.2% before halftime), the Wolves were 11-for-21 (52.4%) in the first quarter to build an eight-point cushion... Minnesota set a club playoff record by grabbing 20 offensive rebounds, leading to a 23-14 advantage in second-chance points... Seattle's largest lead in the game was two points... The Wolves committed 11 turnovers (to 14 for Seattle), and racked up an 18-4 edge in points off TOs... Only seven Wolves saw action in the game, with three logging 40+ minutes (Marbury 44, Peeler 41, Porter 41).

GAME 3 – APRIL 28 AT TARGET CENTER — Attendance – 19,006 — Time – 2:16

	1	2	3	4	Final	Hi Scorer	Hi Reb	Hi Assist
Seattle	28	18	26	18	90	Payton 26	Baker 12	Three with 5
Minnesota	24	26	17	31	98	Peeler 20	Garnett 8	Marbury 11

Kevin Garnett scored 19 points and combined with Stephon Marbury to lead a fourth-quarter rally as the Timberwolves defeated Seattle, 98-90, at Target Center. The Sonics jumped out to a 22-12 lead midway through the first quarter, and extended the lead to 11 points (28-17) on Gary Payton's three-pointer with 1:50 left in the period. Minnesota rallied to lead 50-46 at halftime, before the Sonics went back ahead in the third quarter. Seattle led by five points (72-67) entering the fourth quarter, but Minnesota outscored them 26-6 over the first 9:00 of the period to take a commanding 93-78 lead. Anthony Peeler and Sam Mitchell each had playoff career highs with 20 and 19 points, respectively, for the Wolves. Payton scored 26 points and Vin Baker had 17 points and 12 rebounds for Seattle.

GAME 3 NOTES: The win marked the first time Minnesota had beaten the Sonics at Target Center since Dec. 30, 1990 (a 126-106 decision); Seattle had won 15 straight in Minnesota since that time... The Sonics' 90-point total is the fewest Minnesota has allowed in a playoff game... The Wolves set club playoff records in every three-point category, hitting 10-for-21 (47.6%) from beyond the arc – including 7-for-11 in the first half.

GAME 4 – APRIL 30 AT TARGET CENTER | Attendance – 19,006 | Time – 2:14

	1	2	3	4	Final	Hi Scorer	Hi Reb	Hi Assist
Seattle	28	18	21	25	92	Payton/Hawkins 24	Baker 12	Payton 8
Minnesota	21	22	20	25	88	Garnett 20	Garnett 10	Marbury 7

Seattle rode the hot hand of Hersey Hawkins to an early 14-point lead, and held on behind Gary Payton to take a 92-88 victory over the Timberwolves and even the series at two games apiece. Hawkins scored 16 of his 24 points in the first quarter, hitting 4-of-5 from three-point range. Payton, meanwhile, tallied 16 of his 24 after intermission to help stave off the Wolves' comeback bid. Minnesota rallied to take a 61-58 lead midway through the third quarter, but the Sonics outscored them 19-6 over the next eight minutes to go up 77-67. Kevin Garnett had 20 points and 10 rebounds for Minnesota, while Anthony Peeler added 19 points and Terry Porter 13. Vin Baker tallied 13 points and 12 boards for Seattle.

GAME 4 NOTES: The loss marked Minnesota's first Target Center defeat since Mar. 18 vs. San Antonio... The Wolves closed the regular season with a club-record six-game home winning streak (including wins over Miami, Utah, and Houston), then beat the Sonics in Game 3 on Apr. 28... The final four-point margin marked the third straight game in the series to be decided by less than 10 points... Three of the four regular-season meetings between Minnesota and Seattle had single-digit margins as well, including the Sonics' 99-98 OT win at Target Center on Mar. 8.

GAME 5 – MAY 2 AT KEYARENA | Attendance – 17,072 | Time – 2:27

	1	2	3	4	Final	Hi Scorer	Hi Reb	Hi Assist
Minnesota	27	20	17	20	84	Peeler 28	Jordan 8	Marbury 8
Seattle	24	20	27	26	97	Payton 29	Schrempf 11	Three with 4

Gary Payton tallied 29 points and Seattle overcame an early 12-point deficit to beat the Timberwolves 97-84 and advance to the Western Conference semifinals. Minnesota opened up a 41-29 lead midway through the second quarter behind Anthony Peeler's three-point barrage, and led 47-44 at halftime. The Wolves went 10-for-15 from beyond the arc in the first half, including Peeler's 5-for-6 effort. However, Payton (11) and Hersey Hawkins (9) combined for 20 points in the third quarter to fuel the Sonics' comeback. Seattle put the game away by making all 12 of its free throws in the fourth quarter. Hawkins finished with 24 points for the Sonics, while Detlef Schrempf added 16 points and 11 rebounds. Peeler scored a playoff career-high 28 for Minnesota, with Sam Mitchell and Terry Porter adding 16 and 14 points, respectively.

GAME 5 NOTES: The 12-point, 2nd-quarter lead was the biggest Minnesota let slip away in the series; they'd made up an 11-point deficit in winning Game 3... The Wolves finished 11-for-14 at the free-throw line, compared to Seattle's 27-for-29 showing... Seattle outrebounded the Wolves 39-31, marking the only time in the series that the home team held the advantage... After outboarding the Sonics by +2 and +12, respectively, in the first two games, Minnesota went -13, -1, and -8 over the final three... The Wolves committed 19 TOs – a club playoff record – after a 16-TO effort in Game 4; they'd averaged just 11.7 miscues in the first three games of the series.

Minnesota's longest stretch of sub-100 games during the regular season was four, on two occasions (Dec. 16-22; Mar. 12-18).

NBA 3BALL: Anthony Peeler went 6-for-8 from three-point range in Game 5, breaking his own franchise single-game playoff record (5-for-8 in Game 4)... As a team, the Wolves were 7-for-11 in the 1st quarter and 10-for-15 in the 1st half in Game 5, falling just one trey shy of NBA playoff records in both categories... Minnesota shot 37.8% (37-for-98) from long distance in the series, compared to Seattle's 32-for-106 (30.2%) effort... NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA playoffs: the four division winners and the next six teams in each conference according to their won-lost record – regardless of division. The first round is best-of-five games and each succeeding round, including the NBA Finals, is best-of-seven games.

In every series, the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matches, the eight qualifiers are ranked Teams 3 through 8 according to their records. The playoff pairings for the First Round are teams 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5 in each conference. In the conference semifinals, the winner of teams 1-8 plays the winner of teams 4-5 and the winner of teams 2-7 plays the winner of teams 3-6.

The NBA Finals will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first and last two games. Other best-of-seven series are 2-2-1-1-1.

Some portions of the playoff format were revised in June, 1983. A vote by the NBA Board of Governors made the revisions effective in the 1984 playoffs. The major revisions included allowing 16 teams to qualify for the playoffs and changing the first-round best-of-three series to a best-of-five series.

NOTE: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the best record. Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

GENERAL

COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

Mission Statement

The Minnesota Timberwolves Community Foundation wants to positively impact the lives of the youth in our Minnesota communities, enabling them to make responsible decisions, and helping them to contribute to their own future.

Since 1989, the Minnesota Timberwolves Community Foundation has been a vital contributor to the Twin Cities community as well as to many communities throughout the state. Contributing more than two million dollars over the last nine years, the Timberwolves Foundation has created many new community initiatives, while providing necessary funding to many worthwhile programs and charitable organizations.

The Timberwolves Foundation has been a driving force behind many youth-related projects over the past nine years, including: the Timberwolves Stay-in-School initiative, Tickets for Kids program, Boys in the Hood Junior League, Project Rebound, Jump Start to Reading, the Timberwolves Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday celebration, the Give-and-Go Basketball Leagues, the Timberwolves Holiday Hospital Tours and many others.

The Timberwolves Foundation strives to do more than provide financial support for these and many other charitable causes and organizations. The Foundation's goal is to create an interactive relationship that often includes tickets to home games, player and staff visits and incentives for at-risk youth.

Stay-in-School Program

A hallmark program of professional basketball and the Minnesota Timberwolves, the Stay-in-School program is a junior high school initiative focusing on attitude, attendance and achievement. Eight schools are a part of this year-long program, with four schools each from Minneapolis and St. Paul. All sixth-, seventh- and eighth-grade students from the participating schools are eligible to sign a contract in October. If they meet their monthly objectives as established by their teachers, they receive monthly visits and incentives. Those who succeed throughout the year are treated to a Stay-in-School Jam at Target Center featuring Timberwolves players and national recording and entertainment stars.

Jump Start to Reading

This program is designed to encourage fourth- and fifth-grade students to read at least four books each month during their leisure time. If a student achieves or surpasses their goal of four books, he or she will be rewarded with incentives provided by the Timberwolves and a participating sponsor. Each month a player/staff member will visit the classroom which has read the most books. The player/staff member will either choose to read a short story or talk about a subject of his or her choice.

Thanksgiving Turkey Giveaway

Timberwolves players and coaches distribute several hundred turkeys to needy families and individuals. Coupons are sent to several area shelters who make certain they are given to individuals who need the assistance. The meals are distributed in the lobby of Target Center by the entire Timberwolves team.

Holiday Party for Kids

More than two-hundred children from local shelters and community agencies are invited to a Timberwolves game in December to celebrate the holidays. Prior to the game, the children, along with a parent or guardian, are invited to a private party hosted by Timberwolves players on the suite level at Target Center. Each child receives a wrapped present and everyone in attendance gets to enjoy a hot holiday dinner. Timberwolves players help distribute the gifts as they spread holiday cheer with the children and families.

Holiday Hospital Tour

Timberwolves players and coaches visit area children's hospitals and shelters to distribute gifts and holiday cheer. Each Timberwolves player and coach participates in this annual act of giving. Many of the children are suffering from or recovering from serious illnesses and challenges.

COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday Program

Each January, the Timberwolves host a special celebration to commemorate the life and work of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Students and fans are invited to observe the holiday by attending a special program. The format includes a national speaker, special musical performances by local and national acts, as well as appearances by Timberwolves players. All students participating in the Stay-in-School program are invited to attend along with a family member, and other local community agencies are provided with complimentary tickets so that families can attend this important event.

Tickets for Kids

The Timberwolves donate more than 50,000 tickets per season to non-profit agencies, schools and shelters. Season-ticket holders also donate unused tickets to this program for distribution. This program allows less fortunate individuals to see a NBA basketball game and visit Target Center. Individual and corporate grants for tickets are matched by Timberwolves players and the Timberwolves Foundation.

Scholarship Program

The primary fundraiser for the Timberwolves Foundation, this casual night of dining and interaction with Timberwolves players and coaches is a once-in-a-lifetime experience for a fan. Every October, more than a dozen of the Twin Cities' finest restaurants donate their foods and services to create an unforgettable buffet, while players and coaches take on all challengers in Ping-Pong, pool, free throw shooting, putt putt golf and other activities.

Taste of the Timberwolves

Along with regional cable partner, MSC, the Timberwolves provide six $2,500 scholarships to high school seniors who are enrolled in college programs for the fall semester. This past year, more than 500 applications were received from students throughout Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. The scholarships focus on community service, academic achievement and overall character.

Urban Ventures

In 1998, the Timberwolves Foundation is working with a south Minneapolis organization, called Urban Ventures. The first foundation "signature partnership" will provide a $50,000 gift, volunteer and event support, as well as exposure and promotion on Timberwolves broadcasts for this organization which aims to return leadership, resources and educational tools to the South Minneapolis Phillips Neighborhood.

COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

Heroes Among Us

This season, at 20 home games, the Timberwolves will recognize "Heroes Among Us." This individual will be cited for meritorious acts within the Twin Cities area. At each of the selected games, the Timberwolves will honor an individual who has committed an act beyond the scope and realm of their everyday occupational focus. There will also be a scoreboard recognition during the first break in the action and an award presentation citing the individual's commendable act.

TeamUp

The 1998-99 season marks the third year of the NBA's TeamUp program. The primary goal of this program is to help young people understand the many issues facing society and focuses on their ability to make a difference in the lives of others through community service projects.

NYLC

In conjuction with the NYLC (National Youth Leadership Council), we give students the opportunity to show they care about the community in which they live. This contest promotes the importance of community service and recognizes young people who demonstrate a commitment to improving the quality of life.

T-Mates

While the Timberwolves players may get the headlines, their spouses are making news for themselves as well. The Timberwolves Wives Organization, established in 1995, has been involved in numerous fundraisers and benefits. The organization, comprised of wives of the Timberwolves players, coaches and basketball staff, strives to reach out and make a difference in the community. The Wives Organization created and sponsored a team calendar with all proceeds benefiting the Oncology Unit of the Minnesota's Children's Hospital. The Wives Organization also sponsors a Black Tie dinner, a midseason formal featuring dining and entertainment with Timberwolves players and coaches.

A.C.E.S.

A.C.E.S. (Athletes Committed to Educating Students) is an after-school tutoring/mentoring program for inner-city children in Minneapolis and St. Paul. The program involves athletes and staff from the Timberwolves, Thunder, Twins, Vikings and Wild who, at various sessions, lead educational activities for the students. The two participating schools are Jackson Preparatory Magnet in St. Paul and Powderhorn Community School in Minneapolis. The target group for the program begins with fourth-grade students and continues with them until graduation.

SEAN GRANDE — TELEVISION PLAY-BY-PLAY ANNOUNCER

Sean Grande makes his debut on Timberwolves television broadcasts as play-by-play announcer this season calling the action on KARE, KMWB and MSC. Grande, a ten-year broadcast veteran, comes to Minnesota from Boston College, where he was the voice of the Eagles for four seasons and sports director for WEEI sports radio in Boston.

In addition to his BC play-by-play duties last season, Grande worked in a variety of broadcasting positions, including Hockey East play-by-play anchor for Fox Sports Network and as a member of the NCAA Hockey Selection Show on ESPN2. Grande also reached a milestone on December 23, 1997, shortly after his 28th birthday, making his long-awaited professional sports debut by calling the Boston Celtics-Charlotte Hornets game on the WEEI Celtics Radio Network.

Prior to coming to BC, Grande spent seven years at Boston University, calling football, hockey and basketball. During one four-day stint in 1994, the versatile Grande called the Boston-University-Eastern Kentucky NCAA football playoff game, flew to Los Angeles for a college hockey doubleheader the following night and then completed the hat trick 48 hours later back east in Rhode Island with a BU-Providence basketball game.

A New York City native, Grande is married and resides in Cambridge, Mass., with his wife Lori, who hosts the popular "Carlson and McKenzie" morning drive program on WEGO-FM.

TOM HANNEMAN — BROADCAST HOST

One of the most versatile and familiar voices in Minnesota sports broadcasting, Tom Hanneman begins his tenth season as broadcast host on Timberwolves television broadcasts and on the Timberwolves Radio Network.

Recognized for his smooth and mellifluous delivery, Hanneman is the only person in Timberwolves history to take part in every broadcast since the team's inception. Hanneman's talents have also received nationwide exposure. He worked four seasons as the studio host of NBA Radio, anchoring a 140-station network that features the All-Star Weekend, the NBA Game of the Week and expanded NBA playoff and draft coverage. In addition, Hanneman's NBA Radio work took him to Toronto to host the 1994 World Championship of Basketball for the network, and he hosted a weekly radio show for BBC in London, in addition to broadcasts in Australia and New Zealand.

Hanneman was already familiar to Minnesota sports fans when he joined the Timberwolves broadcast team in 1989. For the previous 16 years he was seen by Twin Citians as a news and sports reporter on WCCO-TV. A personable and entertaining style, with a healthy dose of wit, has been a long-time Hanneman trademark.

Born in La Crosse, Wis., Tom makes his home in Eden Prairie, Minn., along with his wife, Nancy, and their children, Adam, Courtney and Kyle.

COVERING THE WOLVES

CHAD HARTMAN — RADIO PLAY-BY-PLAY ANNOUNCER

Chad Hartman enters his ninth season of broadcasting Minnesota Timberwolves games. He will provide play-by-play for all Timberwolves radio broadcasts. Teamed with new radio analyst Jim Petersen, Hartman brings knowledgable insight and light-hearted humor to his call.

Hartman, who graduated from Arizona State University in 1988, has done play-by-play work on Minnesota Twins, Minnesota Vikings and University of Minnesota football and baseball broadcasts. He has also lent his broadcast expertise to the local First Bank Classic Tennis event. Along with Twin Cities columnist Dan Barreiro, Hartman hosts a popular afternoon drive-time call-in radio show on KFAN. During the past three summers, the duo has helped raise more than $300,000 for the Sudden Infant Death Center through their annual golf tournament.

Hartman, 32, his wife, Kathleen, and their sons, Hunter and Griffen, reside in Plymouth, Minn.

JIM PETERSEN — RADIO ANALYST

Former NBA forward Jim Petersen joins the Timberwolves broadcast team for his first season as radio analyst. Teamed with radio play-by-play voice Chad Hartman, Petersen brings the experience of an eight-year NBA career to his analysis. Petersen played forward and center for the Houston Rockets, Sacramento Kings and Golden State Warriors, being traded to that team in 1989 for Ralph Sampson.

Before the NBA, Petersen, a native of Minneapolis, played four seasons for the Minnesota Golden Gophers. For two seasons at the U, he was teamed with fellow Wolves broadcaster Trent Tucker, both playing on a team that won the Big 10 championship in 1982. Before joining the Timberwolves, Petersen, a former Mr. Basketball of Minnesota, spent time behind the bench as coach of junior high schools in LaJolla, Calif., and Hopkins, Minn.

Petersen is single and resides in Minneapolis.

TRENT TUCKER — TELEVISION ANALYST

Former University of Minnesota guard Trent Tucker returns for his fourth season as the broadcast analyst on Timberwolves television broadcasts on KARE, KMWB and MSC. Tucker, a four-year letter winner on the U's basketball team, also brings 11 seasons of NBA experience to the microphone, which includes one championship season with the Chicago Bulls in 1992-93.

Tucker's broadcast resume includes working as an analyst for Gopher on MSC, the NBA expert for SPTV's basketball coverage and radio work on KFAN. Tucker is single and currently resides in Minneapolis.
